CIENCIAS SOCIALES Y TIC
CRITICAL MEDIA VIEWING
ACT. 2
SANTIAGO VERA, JOSEFINA POROLLI

How do you get informed? Complete the following sentences:
1) "The media and the information sources that I use to get news are…";
2) "Today I read/listened to/watched news about the following subjects…";
3) "What interests me the most in news is…";
4) "It's important to be informed about what's going on in the world because…".
2) Choose three articles (NOT RELATED TO POLITICS) about the same news, each one written by a different journalist and published in different newspapers. Read the three articles and answer:
1) What are the differences and similarities between them?,
2) If the subject is the same, why are they different?,
3) What do you learn with this exercise that could help you as a person who reads news?
4) Paste the links to the articles
3) Have you ever shared information and then realized it was not true? Tell me about your experience. If that has never happened to you, choose a fake news article and explain where it was published and the impact and consequences of it.
4) Find out about how to search and evaluate information sources. Prepare a 1 minute video in which you give these tips for students at our school.
- You can do it in Spanish
- Both students must appear in the video (image or voice)
- You can edit your video with pictures, emojis, etc.
- Give advice about what they should or should not do

Act 1
Jose:
1) The media and the information sources that I use to get informed are: twitter, instagram, google, infobae, idioticias, clarin and BBC news.
2) Today I read news about Larreta falling in love and people vandalising "Sunflowers" by Van Gogh
3) What interests me the most in news is music, gossip and politics in Argentina.
4) It's important to be informed about what is going on in the world because you will know what to expect in terms of politics, society, culture and economy and know what to do according to each situation.

Act 1
Vera:
1) The media that i use to get informes are: Twitter, Instagram, Clarín, la nación, El uno, Infobae, Google
2) Today I read the news about two people throwing tomato soup at a famous painting of Vincent Van GohVan Gogh
3) What interest me the most is the gossip
4) Being informed is important because this way you will be conscious of what is happening in the real world instead of living in a fake world.

Clarin: The News focuses the most on the political project that Milagros and Larreta have together.
Noticias.per: it is a summary of the first interview made by Luis Novaresio
La nacion: It is about the same interview but more complete, focusing in all the aspects (social, political, his private life, etc)

All the news focus at some point in Larreta's opinion about Milagros and his relationship with her, while, in the other hand, one is a brief summary about how Larreta is carrying out the relationship and its beginning, another focuses more on the political projects, and the other one describes more in detail the relationship. However, there is no information that is different between the different views.

3)
For both of us, it happened that we read fake news about Queen Elizabeth II having died. We started telling everyone what had happened, but then realized that, although she was sick and very weak, she hadn't still died. However, some hours later trustworthy newspapers informed that she had died.

4) Buen día gente.
¿Alguna vez te ha pasado de creerte e incluso compartir una noticia falsa?
Hoy en día accedemos a miles de fuentes de información, pero no todas las noticias son ciertas, y por eso te traemos trucos para detectar fake news.
1. Chequear las fuentes: debemos asegurarnos de que la fuente es confiable y conocida, una fuente en la que nos podamos apoyar para conocer lo que pasa en el mundo.
2. Leer más allá de los titulares: si no profundizamos en la noticia, lo que entendamos a partir de esta noticia puede llegar a ser confuso y lo que compartamos no sea cierto.
3. Revisar la fecha y hora de la publicación: si esta noticia llega a ser antigua, hay muchas probabilidades de que no sea verdadera. O sea, no creo que en días como estos vayan a declarar cuarentena.
4. Buscar la noticia en distintas fuentes: las noticias se difunden a mil por hora, y es por eso que si la noticia está sólo en una sola página, es muy probable que sea falsa.
5. Chequear las imágenes de las noticias: si una noticia posee imágenes pasadas o directamente no las posee, es probable que estén mintiendo y ocultando algo.
6. Por último, no compartir ninguna noticia sin antes comprobar su veracidad, y si ya lo hiciste, lola. Na mentira, pedí disculpas públicamente.
7. Bueno, ahora ya sabes como identificar una fake news, de ahora en más cuando leas alguna noticia recorda estos tips antes de divulgar la noticia, muchas gracias.
